

Helping survivors of sexual violence find their voice.

If you are a survivor of sexual violence that took place in Saskatchewan you can receive 2 hours of free legal advice. The incident does not need to have been reported to the police. The program is available to individuals of any age or gender, regardless of income. It doesn't matter how long ago the incident occurred.

Sexual Violence includes, but is not limited to...

- sexual contact without consent, including anything from touching to intercourse
- sexual harassment, threats or intimidation of any kind, including sexual harassment in the workplace as well as criminal sexual harassment or non-consensual distribution of intimate images
- sexual exploitation involving children or adults, including child pornography or human trafficking for a sexual purpose

If you are uncertain whether you have experienced sexual violence you can still receive a referral for free legal advice. A lawyer can help you understand how your situation fits into the justice system and help you make an informed decision about your options and next steps.
