

Vote Quinn Rollins for Member at Large Cupe Local 21

I am currently in my ninth year as a casual laborer at the City of Regina, having begun in Pest Management from 2009 to 2012, then leaving and subsequently returning to work in Forestry from 2015 until the present time. My experience at the City of Regina and in the private sector has taught me just how fortunate we are as brothers and sisters of Local 21, as well as how good the union has been to me personally over the course of close to a decade. It has allowed me to purchase a home of my own, start a family and go to work every day with the peace of mind that my job is secure and that I can safely plan for the future. I feel that the opportunity to serve as a member at large for Local 21 is a way for me to start giving back a little bit to the organization that has allowed me to build my life.

I am not looking to rock the boat or reinvent the wheel; I don't have an axe to grind or a dog in the hunt other than my desire to help where I can and support the initiatives of an executive whose views seem largely in alignment with my own. The chance to participate in a forum where the pure essence of democracy is exercised by the membership is gratifying in its own right and serves as a shining alternative to the cynicism, acrimony and apathy that has become a hallmark of our times in other political processes.

If the membership were kind enough to grant me a mandate, I would personally like to produce a quick-reference document that simplifies the language of the CBA and LOUs, endeavor to increase membership participation in the processes of the Local's administration, and develop strategies to improve the perception of the City and City workers in the eyes of the general public.

Thank you all for your consideration,

Quinn Rollins
